

IS GOVERNMENT OFFICER TO FOLLOW TALK

Navy Surgeon's Criticism of Brownson Said to Be Violation of Rules.

"Is Surgeon General Rixey liable to court-martial for the statement given out to the press by him last night, attacking another bureau of the Navy Department?"

This has been more or less a mooted question today, but it is evident, and it is believed, that he is not, for the good reason that his statement was sanctioned either by the White House or the Secretary of the Navy, or possibly both. Otherwise, he undoubtedly would be court-martialed, because to attack or reflect on any other department or bureau, or other officer of the navy is, it is said, a clear violation of the navy regulations.

Line Officers With Brownson.

The apparent sanctioning of the statement of Surgeon General Rixey is regarded as manifestly unfair by line officers of the navy and others, who stand behind Admiral Brownson in his decisive action for a principle.

There is in the President's hands a statement prepared by Admiral Brownson and given to the President with his resignation. This statement outlines the principle for which he resigned, his stand in the matter and quotes the law in the case. To withhold this while making exposure of the other side of the controversy has stirred severe criticism.

Admiral Brownson's statement also recited the strife and controversy between the line and the staff of the navy which would result from placing a medical officer in command of a hospital ship, and precedent it would establish. It said further that it would be a violation of law, as well as of the naval regulations, and an unwelcome policy. He set forth, it is said, explicit provisions of law and of the regulations providing that none but an officer of the line of the navy was to command any vessel.

Line officers in most instances are quite disturbed about it.

Commander Cameron McR. Winslow was in charge of the Bureau of Navigation this morning. Admiral Brownson, after cleaning out his desk yesterday, quit entirely. It is not expected that he will again go to the department.

Brownson Wrong In Relief Matter, Says Dr. Rixey

Surgeon General Rixey, of the Navy, in a prepared statement given out last night sets forth in terse language the views held by himself and the President, with regard to the controversy over the command of a naval hospital ship, which caused Admiral Brownson to resign, when overruled. It is as follows:

"Admiral Brownson and I have been friends for many years, and when on duty in Washington as naval attending surgeon I was his chief of staff."

His resignation as chief of the Bureau of Navigation has been assigned to various causes, among others to a difference of opinion as to the command of the hospital ship Relief. While I do not know that this is a cause, it may be interesting to the present status of this question.

Doctors as Commanders.

"Hospital ships, as a rule, always have been commanded by medical officers with a sailing master and civilian crew for purposes of navigation."

"The Relief, formerly belonging to the United States army, was always commanded by a medical officer when used as a hospital ship."

"A joint board of army and navy medical officers, convened by Executive order more than a year ago, to attempt to unify the medical service as much as possible, recommended that hospital ships should be commanded by medical officers, and the recommendation was approved by both the Secretary of War and the Secretary of the Navy in general orders."

Have Rank, But Not Titles.

"Naval medical officers have had positive rank for some years, given them by act of Congress, but as the use of titles which indicate rank, has been denied them, it is not generally known. They also have the right to command in their own corps, and all those who are entrusted to their care, whether on the sick list, in the hospitals, or on hospital ships."

"I have contended that hospital ships should be conducted in peace exactly as in time of war. During war time, line officers cannot be spared, and do not and should not desire the command of these ships, and it has always been considered a doubtful question if the Geneva and Ginevra, which could guarantee the neutrality of these ships if combatant (line) officers and crew were aboard. This very doubt prevented the dependance from using line officers on hospital ships."

"A medical officer in command, with a civilian sailing master and crew for the navigation of the ship, has been proven over and over again the proper personnel for this type of ship."

"The Bureau of Medicine and Surgery is directly responsible for the welfare of the health of the navy, and every friend and relative looks to it for the care of the sick and wounded. This work should have the sympathy and active support of everyone."

Too Much Interference.

"This internal administration of the Bureau of Medicine and Surgery has been, in my opinion, too much interfered with by the Bureau of Navigation. This interference has at times caused me grave concern as to how I could meet the needs of those under our care."

"At present the hospital ship Relief would be in commission, and after having done good service with the fleet before starting would have accompanied it on the cruise south. The Bureau of Navigation thought otherwise, and the fleet of 15,000 men, with its 150,000 rifles, is without a hospital ship, and will be until it arrives at Magdalena Bay, more than three months from now."

"I have only asked that the Relief be put in commission, just as every other hospital ship has been, and that the navy medical officer be given the same status as that accorded to his brother-officers in the army, who have commanded this identical ship. Not to do this would be unfair to our medical officers."

"As this is a matter pertaining entirely to the Bureau of Medicine and Surgery and is decided by the Secretary of the Navy, it is hard to understand how Admiral Brownson could be specially involved, as his duties pertain entirely to another bureau not directly responsible for the care of the sick of the navy and in which he should not interfere unless directed by the Secretary."

EX-EMPER'S NOTES FOUND IN MEXICO

Dr. Belton Hunting Other
Papers Zebuieon M. Pike
Carried Up the Arkansas.

MEXICO CITY, Dec. 26.—Now that Dr. Herbert E. Belton has found eighteen of the twenty-one documents taken by Spanish soldiers in 1866 from Lieut. Zebuieon M. Pike, the doctor is searching Mexico with a fine-tooth comb for the other three.

Pike was making his famous trip up the Arkansas river at the time he fell in with the Spanish soldiers, on a visit to the Osage and Comanche Indians. The documents related to his mission, and their recovery has long been desired inasmuch as it was known they threw important light on historical events of the early part of the last century. The eighteen papers Dr. Belton found were filed in the archives here and would readily have been turned over by the Mexican government to the United States had their existence been suspected.

Dr. Belton is working under the Carnegie Institution's auspices. Secretary of State Root has telegraphed his congratulations to him from Washington.

GOVERNMENT GOLD FOR OKLAHOMA

New State Asks for $500,000 of $5,000,000 School Fund.

The treasury of the new State of Oklahoma will soon have a big bunch of the Government's gold. Her governor made a requisition today upon the Treasury Department for $500,000 of the total bonus of $5,000,000 appropriated by Congress for common school purposes in that State.

The State has been after the money for three weeks, but because the general assembly had not complied with the provisions of the enabling act, which required the designation of a proper official to have charge of the school fund, her Senators were informed that the amount could not be paid over.

Today's mail brought the requisition, accompanied by a certified copy of the necessary act of the Legislature.

DOUSE BUYS A PALACE; WANTS QUIET RETREAT

FLORENCE, Dec. 26.—Eleonore Douse has bought the celebrated Capponi palace for 600,000 francs. In the monumental pile, once the abode of one of the proudest noble families of Italy, she intends "to spend the evening of her life."

So Venice, the city of her birth, will see her only occasionally in the future. There she likewise owns an ancient palace, facing the grand canal, but the climate not suiting her, she seldom lives there, and the old house is gradually falling into ruins.

Mme. Douse's country house at Settignano, adjoining d'Annunzio's villa, is for rent. An iron gate leads from one garden into the other, but its lock is rusty and its hinges have not been oiled for many, many a year.

ESCAPED ASSAILANT HELD FOR EXTRADITION PAPERS

NEW YORK, Dec. 26.—Patrick Brown, of 91 Central avenue, Jersey City, was sent to the Tombs today to await extradition papers from the governor of New Jersey. He was arrested at the request of the Jersey City authorities, who allege he struck James Reuben over the head with an ax last night. Reuben is now in the hospital dying of his injuries.

Begs for Death; Lockjaw Victim, Expert Asks Drug

CHICAGO, Dec. 26.—Believing the attack of lockjaw, from which he is suffering, will prove fatal, Dr. Joseph Peasden, a scientist, recognized as one of the foremost of his profession in the study of the dread tetanus, is begging his attending physicians, Doctors J. B. Murphy and Frank Weil, to end his life with a drug.

Dr. Peasden was suddenly stricken Christmas Eve, while preparing a Christmas tree for his children. With a pencil and paper he directed his family to send him to the Chicago Baptist Hospital, Dr. Peasden is with Nelson, Morris, & Co., where he had done much as the result of scientific experiments, to utilize the waste of the packing houses. About two weeks ago he sustained a fall in a laboratory and the germs of tetanus infected the wound.

INDIAN RAILWAYS.

There are in India about 30,000 miles of road divided among ten large and many small and subsidiary lines. There is considerable double track, the gauge of which varies from five feet six inches on the government and large lines to one meter (3.37 inches) and twenty-four inches on branches and mountain divisions.—Railway Age.

THOMAS OFFUTT DEAD AT GEORGETOWN HOME

Thomas W. Offutt, eighty-five years old, and for twenty years a resident of Georgetown, died at 315 M street northwest this morning about 2:30 o'clock. His death was due to old age.

Mr. Offutt was born in Montgomery county, Md. He was one of the wealthiest and most prominent families in that section of the State. He was educated in the county schools and took up farming immediately after finishing his studies. After twenty or thirty years prosperous farming he retired independently wealthy and came to Georgetown to board with friends.

Wise's undertaking establishment will be held from 10 to 12 o'clock tomorrow, and the body will be taken to Potomac, Md., for burial in the family plot.

"PAUPER" WORTH $80,000. POORHOUSE WILL SUE

WORCESTER, Mass., Dec. 26. When the authorities of the Worcester poor farm wrapped up the cloth of a pauper to burning it, of Per, is Barry, a civil war veteran, who died in the poorhouse yesterday, they met with the surprise of their lives.

A rusting of the establishment led to the belief that something had been sewed in the lining and it was ripped open. In the coat and vest and trousers were found uncashed pension checks from the Government amounting to $1,700. Besides this, according to a cousin and only heir of the man, he had $23,000 on deposit in a Boston bank, owned real estate worth $25,000 in Boston, and three farms in Maine. The city will sue for maintaining Barry for the last ten years.

BEAUTY HINTS

Wonderfully effective recipe for Complexion Wash and Skin Food

The accompanying recipe comes from a high authority on matters pertaining to the beautifying of the face. The formula originated in France and was brought to this country several years ago and has since been in use by some of the leading beauty doctors and societies of the our metropolitan cities. The formula is as follows:

Two ounces of Rose Water; one ounce of Cologne; four ounces crystallized Sartin. Put the Sartin into a pint of warm water (not boiling), then add the other two ingredients, and when dissolved and cooled strain through a fine cloth.

These ingredients can be purchased at any well stocked drug store and easily mixed at home. If a large bottle is not at hand, use a fruit jar.

The above formula will make sufficient for a month's treatment, although the good results commence to be apparent after the first few applications. It should be well massaged into the face, bust and arms. It will not only produce a rosy pink complexion, but will also promote the development of the hair in the hollow places, persistently used every day.
